

Danish Party Member Survey 2012 Questionnaire

The survey was conducted by Karina Kosiara-Pedersen & Kasper Møller Hansen, Political Science, University of Copenhagen, within the project MOPA: Modern Party Membership, financed by the Danish research council.

This survey was conducted among party members in all Danish parties, who stood for election in 2011. The survey was conducted online in April 2012 among (a selection of) the party members of which political parties have email addresses. This collection method implies that new and/or active members are overrepresented, since parties primarily have the email addresses of these members. Within the two large parties, Social Democrats and Liberals, a random sample of 9,000 members were surveyed. Within the Red-Green Alliance, Socialist People's Party, Christian Democrats and Conservatives all party members with email addresses were surveyed. Within the Danish People's Party, Liberal Alliance and Social Liberals members were not invited to participate individually but received an invitation and link in the newsletter. In total, 22,415 members from the nine parties responded to some issues, while 16,871 responded to all questions, which means that the response rate for those who have made 'some' answers is 36 percent while it is 27 percent for those who have replied to all questions. The latter response rate varies greatly between parties, partly due to the collection method mentioned above, from 6 percent within the Liberal Alliance and Social Liberals to 29 percent within the Liberals and over 30 percent for the rest of the parties (for further information on the survey, see Karina Kosiara-Pedersen and Kasper Møller Hansen (2012). *Danske partimedlemmer 2012. Parties disagree among other things on how many refugees we can accept. Some people think we can accept way less. Others think we can accept way more refugees. Here is a scale from 1 to 5. 1 means we can accept way fewer refugees than currently, 2 means some fewer refugees, 3 means the same amount as currently, 4 means some more refugees and 5 means way more refugees than currently. Where will you approximately place yourself on this scale, and where do you believe your party is placed? (Tick one box in each row)

This was the last question. Thank you very much for your help. We are not allowed to collect email address; therefore we cannot send you the results to you and the other participants in the questionnaire. You are, however, welcome to check our homepage <http://www.cvap.polsci.ku.dk/partimedlemskab/>. You can already find some of the results conducted from former party member questionnaires, and you will regularly be able to find results from this questionnaire. If you have any questions or comments, you are also welcome to contact us on partimedlem@ifs.ku.dk.
